

This document compiles website-ready content drawn from four project activity reports. Each entry has been filtered down to material suitable for public-facing communication — activity overview, numbers reached, objectives and outcomes, lessons/impact, and photos. Internal-only details (attendance sheets, reimbursement notes, operational recommendations) have been excluded.

1. Reaching Persons With Disabilities with Cervical Cancer Awareness and HPV vaccination

Location: Ijebu Ode, Ogun State

Date: 14 May 2026

Partners: Association of Persons with Disabilities

Overview

HOCAID, working APWD, held a one-day HPV awareness and sensitization programme for Persons with Disabilities (PWDs) in the Ijebu Ode, Ogun State. The engagement was designed to prepare an often-underserved population ahead of an upcoming HPV intensification exercise, ensuring girls with disabilities are not left behind in vaccination efforts.

Reached

200+

PWDs, caregivers, parents and community influencers
reached

What the programme achieved

- Raised awareness and knowledge of HPV and cervical cancer prevention among Persons with Disabilities, caregivers and key community influencers.
- Directly addressed myths and misconceptions surrounding HPV vaccination within PWD communities.
- Strengthened the role of PWD leaders and caregivers as advocates for HPV and routine immunization uptake.
- Built trust and secured commitment for the inclusive participation of girls with disabilities in the HPV intensification exercise.

Impact and lessons

- Intentional inclusion of Persons with Disabilities in HPV demand-generation activities significantly improved trust, participation and uptake among an underserved population.
- Facilitating in the local Ijebu dialect was essential to meaningful understanding among participants.
- Providing transportation support and an accessible venue ensured meaningful participation of PWDs.

"We are grateful to the organizers for intentionally including Persons with Disabilities in this programme." — Mrs. Motunrayo O., a mother with a disability, in her closing remarks.

Participants, including wheelchair users, at the PWD sensitization session in Ijebu Zone

3. Kicking Off the HPV Intensification Exercise Across Seven LGAs

4

HOCAID — GLOBAL YOUTH MOBILIZATION PROJECT

5. Empowering Displaced Women Through Traditional Cap-Making

Location: IDP community, Borno, Nigeria

Reporting period: project started 18 April 2026

Funder / Partners: YEF Fund, GY Mobilization, TAP4, SprutBud, EU support

Overview

HOCAID (Horizon Community Initiative for Aid and Development) is equipping displaced women with practical livelihood skills — traditional cap-making and local crafts — to strengthen their economic independence and support sustainable livelihoods. The project is on track, with the first phase focused on beneficiary engagement, hands-on skills training and provision of materials.

Reached

25

displaced women supported so far

25

young people aged 14–30 among them

Progress so far

- Completed a needs assessment and beneficiary selection within the target IDP community, prioritizing vulnerability, interest and capacity to participate.
- Developed a practical training programme built around traditional cap-making, local crafts and basic livelihood and entrepreneurship skills.
- Commenced hands-on skills training workshops, with roughly half of planned sessions completed.
- Procured and distributed training materials and production inputs to support practical learning.
- Began mentorship and business development support, guiding participants on product quality, production and income-generation opportunities.

Key successes

The project has moved from planning into practical implementation, successfully engaging the target IDP community and establishing a training and mentorship structure led by young project team members and skilled female trainers. Participants have begun developing practical skills that can convert directly into income-generating opportunities.

Lessons learned

- Practical skills must respond to local opportunities — culturally relevant products like traditional caps and local crafts have strong local demand.
- Flexibility is essential when working with displaced communities, given participants' changing circumstances.
- Training should be linked to income opportunities — sustainable impact requires ongoing support on product quality, pricing, marketing and access to buyers, which will be a focus of the next phase.

Displaced women learning traditional cap-making skills as part of the HOCAID livelihoods programme

A HOCAID facilitator guiding participants during a hands-on cap-making training session

. First Lady Launches National Community Food Bank in Ogun

Location: Makun Health Centre, Sagamu, Ogun State

Date: 19 August 2026

Partners: Ogun State Government, Ogun State Primary Health Care Development Board, and other Community-Based Organizations (CBOs)

Overview

HOCAID supported the hosting of Nigeria's First Lady, Senator Oluremi Tinubu, at Makun Health Centre, Sagamu, for the commissioning of the Zonal National Community Food Bank Programme in Ogun State. The initiative provides immediate food relief to vulnerable and indigent households while linking agricultural production to social protection — government purchases grain from farmers during bumper harvests, stores it strategically, and distributes it during periods of need.

Reached

1,000

women mobilized by HOCAID as beneficiaries for the programme

HOCAID's role

- Supported the hosting and coordination of the First Lady's visit to Makun Health Centre, Sagamu.
- Mobilized 1,000 women from surrounding communities as beneficiaries of the Food Bank programme.

- Strengthened HOCAID's partnership with the Ogun State Government, the Ogun State Primary Health Care Development Board, and fellow CBOs around community food security.

Nigeria's First Lady, Senator Oluremi Tinubu, arriving at Makun Health Centre, Sagamu, for the commissioning

The National Community Food Bank, Makun Sagamu, decorated for its official commissioning

Beneficiary women mobilized by HOCAID gathered at the food security and anti-malnutrition programme